

For Immediate Release

 communication@cev.eu

 www.cev.eu

CEV says NO to racism

Further to an incident during a CEV Challenge Cup match back in December 2017 between Olympiacos PIRAEUS and TOURS VB, the CEV has been constantly working on the review of its regulations and can confirm that a new series of measures has been taken to fight any potential inappropriate conducts in CEV competitions.

The experience gained from the organisation of its Volleyball competitions as well as the remarks and comments received from the various stakeholders allow the CEV to identify the processes that need to be improved and intervened for the purposes of making the European Volleyball competitions better and consequently improve the image of the sport.

A new protocol will be introduced to prevent any kind of potential critical impact on our sport, but which also allows, in case of violent incidents during a CEV match, the CEV officials to take action to avoid further issues.

The CEV condemns any form of violence and it is fully convinced that a close cooperation with its members and stakeholders will act for the benefit of Volleyball.

end notation

Notes:

This article was prepared by CEV, in partnership with www.patchwork.law.

Imagery Disclaimer: Photos enclosed with this release or featured on the CEV Photo Galleries are downloadable copyright free for media purposes only and only if CEV is credited as the source material. They are protected by copyright for all other commercial purposes. Those wishing to use CEV Photo Gallery photos for other commercial purposes should contact communication@cev.eu

Boilerplate:

The European Volleyball Confederation (CEV) is the institution responsible for governing 56 National Federations throughout Europe and is recognised as such by the Fédération Internationale de Volleyball (FIVB).

Our ultimate goal is to promote Volleyball, Beach Volleyball and Snow Volleyball and to raise the status of our sport to a higher level. Whether the game is played indoors, on sand or on snow, Volleyball connects and brings people together – from children playing in their free time up to professional, elite athletes.

We cultivate a strong sense of togetherness with all stakeholders, the Member National Federations, their national leagues, clubs, players, organisers and other partners of European Volleyball, from grassroots level to the top events.